Executive Summary

Performance Summary

The META advertising campaign targeting individuals aged 65+ shows concerning performance metrics. Over the last 30 days, a total spend of $254.13 generated 10,653 impressions but resulted in 0 clicks and a 0.00% CTR. This indicates a significant disconnect between ad visibility and engagement.

Notable Trends or Patterns

The highest spend occurred during the week of August 14-20, totaling $185.50, which accounted for 62.5% of overall spend but did not yield any clicks. Conversely, the lowest spend week (August 28 - September 3) had only $3.07 spent with minimal impressions (245), highlighting inefficient ad allocation and audience targeting.

Actionable Recommendations

- Review and refine ad creative and messaging to ensure relevance and appeal to the 65+ demographic, possibly including clearer calls-to-action.
- Adjust targeting settings to include additional age ranges or interests that might resonate better with the audience.
- Consider A/B testing different ad formats or placements to identify more effective strategies for engagement.
