Executive Summary

Performance Summary

The TikTok advertising campaign has a total spend of $942,590.97, resulting in 299,708 app installs with a conversion rate of 0.57% for the primary advertiser and 625 app installs with a conversion rate of 4.36% for the secondary advertiser. Notably, impressions and clicks data are unavailable, leading to a CTR of 0%.

Notable Trends or Patterns

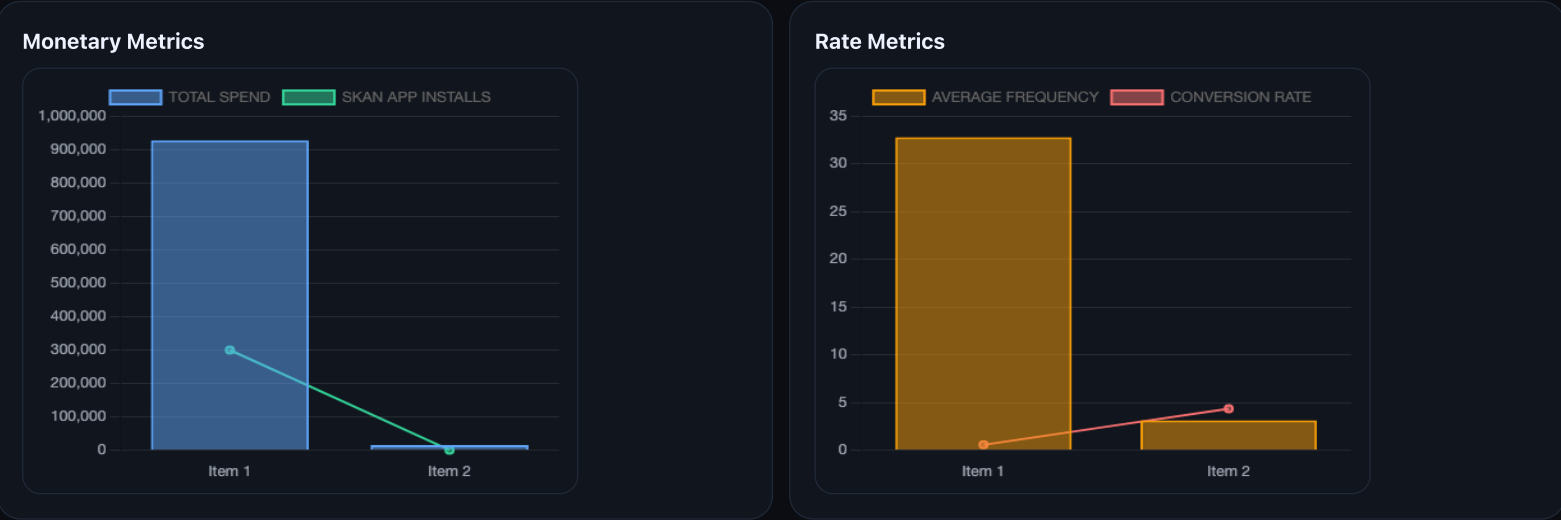

- The primary advertiser has a significantly higher spend but a lower conversion rate compared to the secondary advertiser.
- The frequency for the primary advertiser is 32.76, indicating potential ad fatigue among viewers.

Actionable Recommendations

- Increase ad creativity and variation to combat ad fatigue for the primary advertiser, potentially improving engagement and conversion rates.
- Implement tracking measures to ensure impressions and clicks data are captured for a more comprehensive performance analysis.
- Consider reallocating budget from the primary advertiser to the secondary advertiser, which shows a better conversion rate at a lower spend.
